The image shows a screenshot of an email notification from the International Journal of Interactive Mobile Technologies (iJIM). The notification is titled "[iJIM] Editor Decision" and is dated 2022-04-08 09:10 AM. The sender is identified as Reno Renaldi. The main body of the email contains the following text:

We have reached a decision regarding your submission to International Journal of Interactive Mobile Technologies (iJIM), "Contextual Based E-learning (CBE): A New Model for Online Teaching on Public Health to Face Pandemic Covid-19 Learning".

Our decision is to: submission accepted.

Your final paper is exactly formatted as requested in the "Author Guidelines" in the "About" of the Journal, with author's name(s), institution(s), and short bio(s) in MS Word format (doc, Docx, RTF) so no further actions are required.

You have also added up to three references to papers from this journal or other journals from <http://www.online-journals.org> as you agreed in the first step of the submission process.

According to the journal guidelines: short papers have up to 8 pages, papers 12-16 pages. You will receive an invoice for the APC by a separate email.

For additional pages, an extra fee has to be paid. Please note that we charge you with EUR 20 per additional page added to the standard APC. Short papers can have max. one add. page.

* As we appreciate your high level of experience, we welcome you considering the option to join in this journal reviewer team. If you agree, please send me your reviewing interests (up to 10), and then I will enroll you as a reviewer.

The background of the screenshot shows a dark-themed user interface for the journal's submission system, with a sidebar on the left containing navigation options like "Back to Submissions", "Round Submissions", "Notifications", "Reviews", and "Revisions". A notification bell icon is visible in the top right corner of the interface.

Dear Author,

Thank you for your work in the International Journal of Interactive Mobile Technologies. Attached is one set of page proofs of your article. Please make special note of any queries included in your PDF. We must have answers to these queries before considering the article finalized.

Please review these pages carefully, make any necessary changes, and send back the article with corrections as scanned proof or as Acrobat comments to us within two business days to ensure timely publication of your article.

At this stage, we reserve the right to limit changes to matters affecting the accuracy of content, not style. If your article contains equations, please check the PDF carefully to ensure that they have been reproduced correctly.

Upon receipt of your corrections, we will process them and send you a revised PDF. Your quick review of this corrected PDF will be needed since we will be very close to our publishing deadline.

Please do not email the original word file containing your corrections. We cannot efficiently process corrections this way and it may delay the publication of your article. You may also list corrections in an email that correspond to the PDF you receive from us, noting the page number and location on the page.

We will be including the corresponding author's email address at the end of your bio on the first page.

Please note that this proof is the last opportunity to make corrections; no more modifications will be possible once the issue is published.

If you would like assistance with any questions or comments you may have, please feel free to email. Kindly confirm receipt.

Thanking you!
Revathy
